— WHO’S WHO (NO RELATION TO THE BAND) —

Jonathan Bogue

Jonathan is a multifaceted artist, philanthropist and environmentalist. He currently resides in Islamorada and works as an Educator at the Dolphin Research Center teaching the community about animal welfare and wildlife. Jonathan started his work as an artist with puppetry before moving into backstage and set management roles. Now, more often in front of the curtain for both theatre and television, his passions for humor, humanitarian work, and the natural sciences guide and inform his creative projects. Previously starring in 2023's "The Play That Goes Wrong" He is currently working on his playwright debut entitled, "Mancub"

Caiti Currie

Caiti is so excited to be a part of Monty Python: The Edukational Show and work with her incredible director, Z, again. This will be her 5th production working with The Keys Players both onstage and behind the scenes. Offstage, Caiti works as a boat captain with an amazing crew at Pirates Cove Watersports. She would like to thank her friends and family for their continual love and support and an extra shout out to Kenny, who helps make it possible for her to do what she loves to do!

Jayden Ferrell

Jayden attends FIU and being in Monty Python is the most fun he's had all year! He couldn't imagine performing without the kind and talented cast of this show. However, none of this would be possible without his director, who is not only dedicated to making this an amazing show, but is also the most inclusive person Jayden has ever had the pleasure to work with.

Jose Garcia

Jose is a Keys resident and former theater kid who is proud to be sharing the stage with a great group of people and thankful for the tremendous support of all those who helped. He is excited to watch the silliness and chaos of Monty Python come to the stage.

— WHO'S WHO (NO RELATION TO THE BAND) —

Jessica Garcia

Jessica is thrilled to be back on stage for her third production with the Key Players. She was most recently seen in War of the Worlds and previously appeared in The Play That Goes Wrong. When she's not at rehearsal, Jessica loves spending time with her husband and toddler and volunteering at her Church. She is so grateful for the laughter, creativity, and community this show has brought and hopes you enjoy it just as much as she has!

Gavin Milne

Gavin is in his Senior year at CSHS. When he graduates he plans to study music composition for film in Canada. This is his 6th show and his second with The Key Players. Gavin was lucky enough to meet and work with Ms. Z in the 4th grade. He always loved theatre and acting, and is grateful that Ms. Z helped nurture this love. As well as Ms. Z's support, Gavin is grateful for all the support from all the other Key Players have given him.

Moshe Morgan

Born in Singapore and raised wandering through Indonesia, Malaysia, Canada, and the US, explains Moshe's ease with accents, suitcases, and nonsense. Introverted by nature, he found his voice in high school theater, he later discovered dance in Washington State. In college, he studied science by day and directed shows by night because someone had to be in charge. His post-college years involved tango in Russia, salsa and samba in Brazil, hitchhiking across America, and backpacking Southeast Asia—largely without adult supervision. After eight years living in Oregon and participating in Oregon's Swinging with the Stars charity, a road trip deposited him in the Keys, where he is delighted to again embrace the absurd.

— WHO’S WHO (NO RELATION TO THE BAND) —

Julia Rush

Monty Python is Julia's forth show with the Key Players. She was previously in Jimmy Buffett's Escape to Margaritaville, The Addams Family, and Almost, Maine. She would like to thank Rita Leonardi for sparking her love for theater, and the cast for making this show such a fun experience.

John Pettit

John, born & raised in Miami, retired after 45 years as an Elevator Constructor, former Hialeah Speedway Champion, happily married to his beautiful bride, Mary, father of two daughters, grandfather of 6, (including 2 sets of twins), we wonder why he hasn't run out of gas? Well, he keeps extra active helping The Key Players with their shows - building props, setting up stages, and, fortunately, being called upon to perform in a show or three. Before 2024, having never acted on stage in his life, his daughter, Erin, challenged him to audition, and he was cast as J.D. in "Escape to Margaritaville." Last year, he was cast in "War of the Worlds." He wants to "Thank" Michele Z, and all of his hard working fellow cast members for all the laughs and fun times while preparing for this show. Now sit back, chillax, and maybe help fix what's "askew on the treddle!"

Hadriam Vega

Hadriam has been working in the dive industry for over 20 years, but believe it or not, this is only his second time on stage. Whether he's on a dive boat or awkwardly under stage lights, he's a jokester who lives for making people laugh and have a good time. He appreciates everyone who's told him to "break a leg"—which is very encouraging, considering he has a very real fear of breaking a leg... and zero health insurance jokes prepared.

GRATITUDE, AFFECTION, & NONSENSE FROM THE DIRECTOR

My gratitude is deep, possibly infinite, and probably accompanied by a small drumroll—so thank you to all.

To my Human Anchors:

Dustin, my steadfast partner-in-chaos, for listening when I was frustrated and reminding me that my show frustration follows the same schedule for each show. Your ability to endure my melodrama from miles away is nothing short of heroic.

My mom and Tamara, who came from New York to keep me—and my dogs—alive. From feeding me to hanging posters, your steadfast support allowed this show to happen. I love you both & won't forget your bravery in reluctantly leaving winter storm warnings & the bitter cold of NY to endure rehearsal chaos.

Melissa, for your daily memes, moral support, and uncanny ability to distract me just enough to get things done. You are officially a legend.

Kimy & Kelly, who stepped in to help with Matilda and Junie when I needed to be elsewhere, keeping everything on track while I finished this show. Your dedication is as wonderful as a perfectly timed cue — and just as rare!

To my Miracle Workers:

Kaya McCoy, whose set-building superpowers turn chaos into perfection. Nobody quite like I her exists on this planet, and I adore her.

Erin Perchalski, for dropping everything to create art once again, and for executing an unknown one-person boycott that will live in my mind forever.

John Pettit, and his prop-making dream team Ken & Rick, who make the tiniest details matter so much that the show comes alive. Your ingenuity is unmatched.

KLS Drama Club parents and students, who staffed concessions and ensured the money returned to the program. Your dedication (and your willingness to handle sticky snacks and odd hours) is endlessly appreciated.

To the Chaos Tolerators:

My Dedicated Cast, who trusted me to bring the best possible show to life even though my mind rarely moves in a straight line. You brought laughter, fun, and maybe just a little chaos too — all of which kept this production alive and absolutely unforgettable.

Jonelle, for keeping everything running — scheduling, tech, advertising, and production —and for understanding enough about how my mind works to get the show done - and done well!

The Key Players Board, for trusting me with the vision and giving this show the wings it needed to take flight (or at least flap dramatically in the right direction).

To the Believers:

Plantation Key Government Center, for letting us rehearse in peace, and for tolerating our frequent shouting, singing, and general nonsense without calling the authorities

Murray Nelson Government Center, for letting us build sets, rehearse, and perform our hearts out closer to showtime. Your generosity and tolerance for chaos make you true champions.

And our audience, for bringing laughter, joy, and your full selves. May your happiness ripple out into the community, and may you tell your friends to come see the show—or at least return yourselves for more absurdity.

We love supporting the Upper Keys art scene!
